Harvest: Thank God for the Supermarket!

There are certain signs that autumn has arrived. The evenings become darker, the leaves begin falling from the trees, the heating is switched on with some reluctance, and someone in the village starts complaining that the weather is not what it used to be. And, of course, there is Harvest Festival.

Harvest is one of those wonderfully traditional occasions when we decorate the church with vegetables, fruit, flowers and tins of baked beans, sing hymns about gathering in the harvest, and then wonder what on earth we are going to do with three dozen tins of peas.

It is easy to forget what harvest is actually about. Most of us have never had to grow enough food to see a family through the winter. If we are hungry, we don't generally reach for the hoe and head into the garden. We reach for the telephone, the car keys or, increasingly, an app on our phone. Our food comes from supermarkets, which are rather impressive places. You can walk in wanting a pint of milk and emerge forty-five minutes later with a bottle of wine, a packet of biscuits, a reduced chicken and something you have no idea how to cook.

But behind all that convenience are farmers, growers, pickers, drivers, warehouse workers, shop assistants and countless others. Somewhere, somebody has worked extremely hard to produce the food we quite casually put into our trolley. And then there is the weather.

Farmers, perhaps more than anyone else, understand that ultimately we are not in control. Too much rain is a problem. Too little rain is a problem. Too much sunshine can be a problem. Too little sunshine is definitely a problem. And snow in March is simply an invitation to despair. Harvest therefore reminds us of something we can easily forget: we are dependent upon God and upon one another.

It also reminds us to be grateful. We have become very good at complaining — about the weather, the price of things, politicians, traffic, etc... Harvest gives us an opportunity to stop and say, "Actually, there is an awful lot for which we should be thankful."

But gratitude should lead to generosity. While many of us have plenty, others do not have enough. Harvest is a reminder that God's gifts are not intended simply to be stored in our cupboards, garages and bank accounts. They are to be shared.

So this Harvest, let us give thanks for the food on our tables, for those who produce it, and for the extraordinary generosity of God's creation. And if you find yourself looking at the harvest display and wondering why anyone thought we needed fourteen marrows, remember: somewhere, someone is probably wondering exactly the same thing.

Thank God for the harvest — and pass the apple crumble!
Phill

PARISH COUNCIL UPDATES

The Parish Council held its ordinary meeting on Tuesday 8th September 2026 at Simpson Hall, with seven members of the public attending.

Speed limits and road safety

Road safety was a key topic at the meeting. The Council discussed the proposed 50mph speed limit and concerns raised by residents, particularly around St Mary's.

The Council agreed to formally raise its initial concerns with Herefordshire Council Highways. Suggestions including additional "SLOW" road markings and coloured road surfacing were also discussed.

The Council will consider Herefordshire Council's Traffic Regulation Order (TRO) response at its November meeting before agreeing its formal position.

Drainage and flooding

Funding has now been confirmed for drainage maintenance, with £3,048.64 for maintenance works and £2,450 for a new asset. The works are expected to begin in November.

Drainage works at Whitmoor Pool Common have unfortunately been deferred until next year due to higher-than-expected costs. The Council is working with the Academy Trust to explore more competitive quotations and possible grant funding.

Village maintenance

Vegetation management at Whitmoor Pool Common has been carried out following the bird nesting season, with a further final cut planned before winter.

The Council also approved the removal of the Silver Birch tree on Tillington Common, at a cost of £150.

Funding of £560 will be requested through the Public Rights of Way (PROW) grant for footpath works during 2026/27.

Dog waste bins – we want your views!

The Council is looking at whether additional dog waste bins are needed around the village and is currently considering potential locations and costs.

Before making any decision, we want to hear from residents.

Do you think additional dog waste bins are needed? If so, where would you like to see them?

Please look out for our poll in this edition of the Parish Magazine and let us know your views.

Defibrillators

Checks on the parish defibrillators are ongoing. The cabinets have been unlocked to promote access when needed and the Council is now looking at the costs of any required maintenance or replacement equipment.

These costs will be considered at the next Parish Council meeting.

Planning

The Council considered two planning applications during the meeting and raised no objections to either, while noting the relevant requirements and comments from the Highways Authority regarding access.

The Council also noted a number of recent planning decisions from Herefordshire Council.

Parish Council vacancy

There is currently one Parish Councillor vacancy remaining.

Cllr Jade Williams has also been appointed to the Finance and Administration Working Group.

Next meeting

The next ordinary meeting of Burghill Parish Council will be held on:
Tuesday 10th November 2026

Members of the public are welcome to attend.

Do you think Burghill needs more bins?

Burghill Parish Council is looking into whether additional litter/dog waste bins are needed around the village.

Before making any decisions, the Parish Council is looking at potential locations and the costs involved, and we would like to hear from residents.

Do you think more bins are needed in the village?

- ☐ Yes – I think more bins are needed
- ☐ No – I think there are enough bins already
- ☐ Not sure

If you think more bins are needed, where would you suggest they are located?

Please give the road, area or a nearby landmark so we can identify the location.

Email your suggestions to:

clerk@burghillparishcouncil.gov.uk

Your feedback will help the Parish Council understand where bins may be most needed and whether there is sufficient demand to justify the costs.

Restoring Our Wildlife Habitat by Rich Downes

In 2023, a landmark report revealed the UK's devastating wildlife decline. Since the 1970's, the UK has lost over 30% of its wildlife habitat and many creatures are on the brink of extinction. I then realised that that was my lifetime. I've witnessed this decline in real time!

As a young boy living in this parish, we would turn rockery stones to discover frogs, toads, newts, centipedes, millipedes, chrysalises, worms, slugs, snails, beetles, woodlice - now there is nothing but bare earth. The air was busy with birds, bees, butterflies, moths, insects of all kinds - now massively reduced. On nearby wetlands we would watch curlew and snipe and get dive bombed by angry lapwings! Iridescent sticklebacks would sparkle in local brooks and the pink willowherb on Tillington Common crawled with spectacular elephant hawk moths and their caterpillars. Now all gone.

On the extensive grasslands, beautiful, lolloping hares were a regular sight. A favourite game was to see how close we could get to them as they lay basking in the sun. The grasslands are now intensely farmed fields of crops and the hares are no more.

The clear water of the many ponds, teamed with life; an oasis of biodiversity and an essential resource for so many other creatures. Only one of our five nearby ponds still exists. A knock-on effect of the loss of ponds has been the decline in house martins and swallows which for generations had built their nests on the eaves of our houses. No ponds, no mud, no nests, no birds!

When you now stand and admire the British countryside, it looks idyllic, but that's from our narrow, human perspective. About 70% of land in the UK is currently farmed and sadly, most farmland is devoid of wildlife. Few gardens have any wildlife habitat and many fruit orchards are sterile environments. Of course, we are indebted to our farmers for helping to feed the nation but the decline in habitat has proved that farming must be done with sustainable methods. Thankfully, many farmers are now embracing this change, but we must all claim responsibility for wildlife's recovery. We all have opportunities to help in some small way, whether it's rewilding a patch of garden, digging a small wildlife pond, or planting more wildlife friendly plants and trees.

We own a once, neatly mown acre of Tillington countryside which we had always used for gardening and leisure pursuits but we realised it had far more value as wildlife habitat.

So in 2024 I put away the mower, wildflower seeds were sown, Buddleia, Echinops and a selection of wildlife friendly trees were planted - each tree sponsored by a family member. Two ponds were created, now alive with frogs, beetles, newts and dragonflies; also an essential water supply for many other birds and mammals.

A large heap of decaying logs was dumped, a compost heap built, a 'dead hedge' constructed to encourage roosting and nesting birds, bug hotels and bird boxes installed, a hedgehog house built, now with a lodger! Corrugated sheets laid down to encourage snakes, slow worms and small mammals - an enormous grass snake found a home there within just a few weeks!

Two years on, the field is returning to its natural state as we watch Mother Nature taking over. Groups from Burghill school will hopefully be visiting to learn about the sort of action we can all take to help build a better, more sustainable future for our wildlife. We may even one day see our local parish council taking positive steps towards helping maintain and develop our ever dwindling natural environment.

ABOUT THE FILM

Ian McKellen is deliciously wicked as Jimmy Erskine, the most feared theatre critic in 1930s London. His poisonous reviews can make or break a career, but when his own position comes under threat, he draws struggling actress Nina Land (Gemma Arterton) into a dangerous scheme. What follows is a darkly entertaining tale of ambition, blackmail, betrayal and murder, with a superb British cast including Mark Strong and Lesley Manville.

Ian McKellen • Gemma Arterton • Mark Strong • Lesley Manville

Burghill in Bloom

At our next meeting, we will be discussing plans and actions for the year ahead.

We have been asked whether, following the Parish Council's spraying of roadside weeds, we can arrange for our new contractors to clear the gutters, followed by the road sweeper to clean up any remaining debris.

We would also like to continue with our village litter pick, again with the support of the Parish Council, and will be asking for volunteers to help with this next year.

The Copse Committee has also asked whether we would consider assisting with their biodiversity area once building work commences.

We will continue to monitor our village plant boxes and will shortly be preparing them for the winter months ahead.

If you would like to join us at our next meeting or would be interested in helping with any of the above, please get in touch with me.
